INSTRUCTIONS & EXERCISES

Mallards make the feeding call when they are sitting on the water feeding. It shows contentment, and invites other ducks to join them.

Grab the Feedin' Mallard™ around the barrel of the call (See Diagram). Shake the call from side to side, paying particular attention, to produce an irregular rhythm (cluck, cluck-a, cluck-a, cluck, cluck-a). Do this as ducks fly by and over your setup to invite them to land in your decoys.

When combined with your favorite duck call you sound like a flock of mallards.
